"Gangster Author" Wants To Be Senator

We notice that Mr. Boswell, the Miami political prognosticator, thinks that Charles Francis Cox and Senator C. O. Andrews will fight it out in the second primary for the United States senatorship. We believe this is wishful thinking on the part of the anti-New Dealers.

If "Socker" Cox goes in the second primary this paper will be very much surprised. Jeffersonian democracy in the United States, which seems quite distasteful to Mr. Cox, is likely to upset all Mr. Boswell's hope. The people demand it—Apokka Chief.

AT IT AGAIN

There is usually some sort of argument under way concerning the custody, welfare or earnings of the famous Dionne children. The most recent is that the father takes to court to demand that Dr. Dafoe make an accounting of all money earned through advertisers who obtained the privilege of using the names of the children and also that of Dr. Dafoe. These youngsters have made money and will continue to do so as long as advertisers feel they are "good copy". But will their lives continue to hold arguments concerning earnings? Probably so. Perhaps there is a lot of glamour in the surging of public attention and universal interest. But does this extraordinary existence line-up favorably with the local child's upbringing, where his picture appears in the family album rather than a magazine, endorsing soap or baby powder?

SEEMS TO WORK

Reports have been favorable regarding the stamp method of distributing surplus and needy families. It has been tried in three cities. Rochester, N. Y., Dayton, Ohio, and Seattle, Wash., where the experiment has proved successful. It is to be tried in other towns, soon. We are glad that it has increased consumption for these underprivileged and that it has helped to relieve the farm surplus. Orange stamps, costing $1, may be bought by direct relief or relief wage. With each orange stamp goes a blue one worth 50 cents in the purchasing of only surplus food produce. The stamps are good at any co-operating grocery store and the government redeems the blue stamps for face value. We will watch the experiment in the hundred other cities to be added. The idea of relieving the surplus crops is feasible to everyone.

THE LOVELIEST

A rural high school graduate was named from among 3,000 contestants as the nation's loveliest farm girl. She appears at the New York World's Fair as harvest queen. This young lady doesn't seem to care for farm work. She says she knows nothing about riding a horse, can milk a cow if she has to, but doesn't want to! She likes movie magazines but doesn't read books. As for farm cooking and canning, she helps if necessary, but would rather see a movie. What farm girl wouldn't? But this is not the liking of all lovely farm girls. Many of them do farm chores from choice. Some of them wouldn't change their whole existence. Often a ruddy, plain body makes the happiest ideal wife for a farmer boy. She goes ahead with her eyes open to the hard work and her hands willing to carry, a life where a movie is a real treat, and time to read a magazine is hard to find.

NOMINATING SPEECH

The technique of a nominating speech is to go through a long list of names, each with a "man whom this and a man whom that" and then name him in a final burst of spread eagle oratory.

The New Deal ballyhoo for Paul McNutt is running true to form. Keynoting before the Young Democrats, Senator Claude Pepper called for a farmer boy, a Roosevelt idea. The next day McNutt appeared on the platform to say, in effect, "That's me!"

In a message to the convention, President Roosevelt barred any peace nominee. He couldn't have named McNutt because he had just testified to the orthodoxy of the Indiana glamour boy's faith by appointing him to an eminent New Deal post, a post, however, that puts him in command of the promissory paramount issue of the democratic campaign next year.

That issue will be an extension of social security and they are building up McNutt along with it. In all of these clues there is a pretty broad hint as to whom the New Deal nominating speech will name when they get down to it.

It will be "that sterling son of Indiana, etc., of course, Paul V. McNutt."

There is, of course, another name that can qualify for all of the New Deal specifications now being offered. That name is a President who may be the consolation will wait with bated breath to learn which name is uttered.

That sort of reveals the political plans which are going along with the present stage of the campaign. As the preliminaries unfold, it seems clear that the New Deal strategy is to get the endorsement of McNutt or Roosevelt. This may be branded as playing for conner.

Active support of the lesser of two evils but it is good rainfall right on. At administration focus can't

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay.

New York: You know, when the typical born and bred New Yorker visits Florida for the first time, he gets the thrill of his life. You've seen 'em struck dumb as they gaze into the depths of Silver Springs, go ga-ga over a flock of white herons or a row of coconut palms and carry on like a two-year-old with a toy balloon over a mass of sea shells, a hedge of poinsettias or an orange grove. Well, I'm like that right now for I get the same kind of a thrill out of New York that these folks get from Florida. The amazing transportation system, the bustle and bustle and crowds, towering skyscrapers and bright lights never fail to excite and amaze me.

In company with Howard Hartley, I came up to complete arrangements at this end of the line for the reception and entertainment of the big Florida Press party that will attend Florida Week ceremonies this end of the month. In order to experience, as soon as possible, a trip identical with that planned for the tour party, we rode in air-conditioned coaches and found it very comfortable, leaving Jacksonville at 7:30 p. m. and arriving in New York the following afternoon at 4:15 p. m.

Accommodations for our entire party have been arranged for at the Marlborough Hotel just two short blocks from Pennsylvania Station, Broadway at 32nd street. Manager J. T. West is a delightful host and is going out of his way to make our party comfortable during their stay.

Arriving at the World's Fair, we found the biggest show, the Florida Exhibit and the big show itself eager to extend every courtesy to visiting Floridians and an elaborate program of entertainment has been provided for, with cocktail parties, ceremonies and numerous other party comfortable during their stay.

Those who take advantage of the special tour rate of $25.50 will find that this covers just about everything but meals and they need spend little more than that amount unless they care to do so. The fair is a marvel, far superior to the Chicago show, with magnificent exhibits any of which is well worth more than the gate admission. The shows on the grounds are of the highest type, comparable to those you would pay $3.00 to see in a theatre and admission to your choice of the best included in your tour rate as well as main gate admission and transportation.

The Florida exhibit is a glorious achievement, overshadowing all other state exhibits and ranking with the outstanding features of the entire Exposition. While located far from the center of things, which proved a handicap during the early days of the show, the establishment of a complete bus service and the opening of an admission gate close by with ample parking space has served to boost attendance and to-day Florida is attracting large crowds daily and holding her own with the other attractions.

Monday, August 28 has been designated Florida Press day, headed by the famed Greater Miami Boys Drum and Bugle Corps, our entire party will tour the entire Fair Grounds, be received by City officials, Fair officials and other dignitaries. The Drum Corps will give a drill and band and entertainers at the Florida Exhibit will provide a special program. In the afternoon, a cocktail party will be staged at the Florida Pavilion where Florida newspapermen and their guests will meet local scribes.

That evening all will be taken to the Aqueduct, hit show of the Fair starring Johnnie Wesselsmiller and Eleanor Horn. Our party will be the guest of George Jessel and Al Sneider at the "Old New York" show where you will have an opportunity to ride on the old-fashioned horse car, later on an old New York night car, see delightful Ann Pennington and musical show.

Every minute of the three and a half days in New York will be so jammed, so packed with excitement, in fact so many things have been arranged for your entertainment that you are going to find it hard to take advantage of all of the events.

If you haven't already done so, you'd better contact your local newspaper right now and make reservation for the Florida Press Tour to the New York World's Fair leaving Jacksonville Aug. 28, an all-expense tour, covering everything but meals, at only $25.50. You'll get more for your money than you ever got before and you can take it from me, if you miss this great party you'll miss the time of your life.

HOLD THAT TIGER!

NEW YORK (Special)—Here's one way to make a living in a profession that's never overworked. Captain Phogke is literally putting his hand in the tiger's mouth at Frank Buck's Jungle and at the New York World's Fair. The beast with the meal on the tip of her tongue is Lily, aged seven.

er to Billy Rose's wonderful Aqueduct or Robinson's "Hot Mikado," both $3.50 shows you can see for four cents each for a couple of hours of big time entertainment.

As you leave either of these shows a bomb explodes high overhead, heralding the beginning of the big fireworks exhibition at the lagoon. Hurry back to the Florida building. Comfortable benches await you and there isn't a finer place to watch the pyrotechnics than from the bench in front of Florida's exhibit.

It is now getting on towards eleven o'clock. But you're a glutton for punishment and come back for a superlative show. You can take your choice of a thick and shows and rides that won't cost over a quarter each, some of them less. Midnight comes and you will ride back to Flushing Gate on that same Number Three bus or other one back to the Flushing area where you can find the same direction—(just ask any driver)—where you climb back to the foreign buildings that are plenty.

plenty. You must pay the price if you want caviar and filet mignon instead of plainer but more substantial fare. But if you just use common sense, you can see the show reasonably—so reasonably that you'll be agreeably surprised.

With money donated by Argentina toward the earthquake relief funds Chile has purchased 1,400 tons of corrugated galvanized sheets in Argentina to be used in reconstruction.

NEW CLUB BUILDING
Work on the foundation of the new Pahokee Woman's Club building is scheduled to begin this week, according to Mrs. J. B. Barwick, acting chairman of the club building committee. The contract, estimated at $1,000, was let to L. N. Ekins, Fort Myers. The building will be located on the Barfield highway.

About Those Who Try To Outwit The Finny Tribe In Lake Okechobee and Other South Florida Fishing Spots

Roy Segree of Pahokee is the champion salt water fisherman this week. He and "Red" Doman were on the bridge at Jensen bright and early one morning over the week end. "Red" didn't do so much fishing but Roy was in there outwitting 'em from early dawn until nine o'clock. His catch was the limit of salt water trout—nice big ones, too. And red snapper galore. Beauties they were. Roy probably could have caught a few more but he had his share for the day and returned to Pahokee where he passed out several of the beauties to his friends.

Jensen seems to be the mecca for Lake Region folks over week ends. Last week end there were dozens of people from this section there. The Pritchford boys, who operate a camp and sell bait, were busy every minute of the week end. They furnish bait and tackle, a place to sleep, and fish to eat if you don't catch enough for a meal. Everything at nominal price. When you have a few hours to spare—just drive over. Jensen way and call on those Pritchford boys—a whole half dozen of 'em—and you'll have a week end really worth while.

Have you noticed the "hang-dog" look on many of our more virile fishermen's countenances? It seems the men of our community have been shamed by a mere woman, who caught him, a minnow, an 8 pound, 14 ounce fish! And that was done, ladies and gentlemen, in the presence of her husband who could do no better than supply his able wife with bait. Oh for shame!

Mrs. H. E. Jones did the splendid job and her husband hasn't uttered a word since, poor chap! The fish was entered in Betzner's contest Wednesday night after it had shrunk 6 ounces, originally weighing in at 8 pounds, 4 ounces. Lake Traylor was the generous spot. The entry, by the way, pushed Dick Bowman and Spud Murphy, originally tied for second place with 8 pound, 12 ounce specimens, into third place, behind Mrs. Jones. Jim Henderson, a man, still leads the pack with his 9 pound heavyweight.

It seems to us that Mrs. Jones took Mr. Jones for a ride!

H. C. Warren, the lax, comfortable chap, is still cruising about on Lake Okechobee in his queer contraption. The contraption, as explained last week, consists of an ordinary boat hooked on to a most extraordinary umbrella of the beach variety. Not only does the umbrella offer abundant shade but also motive power in event of breeze. Elsharum has reported that they recently noticed what appeared to be a heavy brown cloud appearing over the horizon. Scuttling quickly by shore to avoid the ominous disturbance they were somewhat surprised to find later that it was Warren and his "umbrella boat."

"Red" Gurkin is suffering in silence these days. Only a man of stout endurance could long exist with what poor "Red" has gone through! The story unfolds like this: "Red", in company of a gentleman too cruel and mean to make mention of his name, other than to explain he is, or was, instructor in Betzner's contest, set out for a quiet fishing expedition in Blue Cypress. After the usual battle of wits with the finny tribe, Red hooked a gigantic black bass, fully 15 pounds, (according to "Red"). After playing him out, "Red" reeled high in the "instructor" waiting to grab him. The "instructor" fumbled with the fish, he muffed it and messed with it. It dropped from his shaking hands and took "Red's" rod and reel with it to David Jones' jr. boat.

Cari Hayes, long absent from the list of prominent Glades fishermen, caught a hunk of glory last week, winning Betzner's weekly contest. From Blue Cypress Cari hauled an 8 pound, 6 ounce sample.

Sam Fleming and Spud Murphy, piscatorial artists par excellence, are hanging their heads in shame these days. Attempting to break into the win column before the annual prize deadline is reached, they rigged up and set out for Cleveland to do a little fishing. Their "rigger" failed and they turned around and came back without any fish! No courage.

Lou Betzner warns all ambitious fishermen of the Glades that all fish entered in his contest, or any other Glades contest, must not be entered in other contests. No one fish in two contests, says Lou.

Fish stories are scarce this week on this side of Lake Okechobee. However, one appeared in last week's issue of The Clewiston News that is worthy of reprinting. Here it is:

G. H. Small, Clewiston peace justice had a most unique fishing experience in the levee canal, a short distance from Clewiston on Thursday afternoon while out with M. E. Vogtman and daughters Sue and Eleanor.

"Two or three baits of average size" had been hooked, when suddenly Mr. Small started to reel in after a cast and the plug would not retrieve. At first he felt that he had snagged it on a rock, or weeds but as the line began to run off the reel and the end of the line swung toward the center of the canal he began to sit up and take notice. He thought then that he had hooked a large alligator, a shark (a few are reported in the lake) or a large turtle.

His line was only average size and he was afraid to exert too much pressure but was as definitely determined to land whatever it happened to be.

For more than two hours the battle raged with Mr. Small refusing all offers of assistance. A little headway would appear to be made as the line was reeled in and then again the line would run rapidly off the spool toward the center of the canal. Finally a terrific tug was made by Mr. Small and his rod broke. There was nothing to do but call for assistance for Louisiana, 39 per cent for Tennessee, 48 per cent for Virginia, 46 per cent for Mississippi and 31 per cent for Georgia.

The common belief that the large negro population is responsible for Florida's high disease and death rates is clarified many times in the report. Every section of the country, the health surveyers point out, has portions of the population that present special problems. The fact that these "problem groups" come into daily contact with the public as a whole, both in business and through the home, makes them a common responsibility which must be assumed and met by the entire population if they expect to be adequately protected against communicable diseases.

The summary report, prepared especially for public consumption, is a condensed version of the major report that goes to public health officials, government officials and other professional persons concerned with the administration of public health in Florida.

In transmitting the summary to Dr. A. B. McCrory, State Health Officer and to John P. Ingels, Jr., Chairman of the State Wide Public Health Committee, the American Public Health Association's field staff said that "The findings of the survey will improve the health of the citizens of Florida only insofar as major recommendations are systematically accepted by health officers and public leaders and are merged into an active long-range program."

An effective use of the report, its searching analysis and its recommendations will depend upon the progressive interest and activities of the State-Wide Public Health Committee in presenting the facts to the people of Florida.

The report contains several maps of Florida showing per capita wealth distribution by counties, prevalence of hookworm by counties, malaria deaths by counties and the district divisions of the State-Wide Committee which was formed at the meeting of the American Public Health Association. Sections within which the report is divided include "Scope of Study"; "Important Factors Affecting Public Health Administration"; "The Medical Profession and the Public Health"; "Major Recommendations"; "Tuberculosis"; "Health in the Schools"; "The Care of Crippled Children" and "The American Legion's part in this program; generalities and conclusions."

time local health departments," the report says.

Florida has fewer full-time local health departments (county health units) than any other Southern state, according to a map of 14 states printed in the August issue of Florida Health Notes, official publication of the State Board of Health. Florida has only 26 per cent of her counties with full-time local health departments, against 100 per cent organization for Alabama, Delaware, Maryland and South Carolina. 79 per cent for Arkansas, 76 per cent for North Carolina, 72 per cent for Kentucky, 62 per cent for West Virginia, 64 per cent for Louisiana, 59 per cent for Tennessee, 48 per cent for Virginia, 46 per cent for Mississippi and 31 per cent for Georgia.

The State Board of Health is mailing the report to all members of the committee, which now total approximately 1200 prominent citizens. In addition, the report will also be sent to physicians and municipal officials, as well as to any other interested persons requesting it.

The executive committee of the state-wide organization serving with Mr. Ingels is composed of Mrs. Melcom McCallan, Co-Chairman, Jacksonville, President of Florida Parent-Teachers Association; Dr. Thomas E. Pahokee Nine Is In Second Place

Pahokee's improving baseball line shagged out a double-win over Lake Worth's Ramblers at Bateman Field Sunday to clinch second place in the South Florida League standings. Bardin pitched and batted his way to an 8-to-5 win in the opening contest while Jacobs twirled a seven-inning no-hitter in the nightcap. Dorsey Pugb, Pahokee shortstop, garnered three bingles in the final game as the Pahokies 6-bit attack.

Wildlife Workers

Protect Preserves

The West Palm Beach Wildlife League unit this week took steps to prevent logging of State lands to private interests and the exclusion of hunting from those areas. A committee was named to make investigations into the matter of saving virgin State forest for future hunting in South Florida.

Petitions will be circulated throughout Florida that will seek restoration in State land leases that will permit hunting.

Juman W. Weeks, newly appointed commissioner for the State Game and Fish department for this district, was unable to attend the meeting but was represented by John L. Billings, his chief conservation officer.

Billings told the league his department would appreciate all cooperation possible from the sportsmen and that it would be the policy of the department to take into consideration the wishes of the organizations of South Florida.

Check Arrives To Pay For Hall Work

The long awaited check from the Public Works Administration for Belle Glade High hall bonds was received last week from the Federal Reserve Bank at Atlanta. The check amounted to $13,220 and represents payment for municipal town hall bonds sold to PWA.

Checks have already been issued to the contractor for the project, to apply on completion of work. Construction was completed several weeks ago but occupation of the building until the final payment was received.

Furnishings will be installed and the building occupied as soon as finishing touches to the interior can be made.

Seven Seek Job As City Councilmen

Three more freeholders qualified late Wednesday night as candidates for the position of town commissioners in the September 12 election.

M. L. Alsop qualified to run for the unexpired term of R. K. Harris, left open by Harris' resignation to run for mayor, and Ray Whitlock and K. E. Lutz qualified to run for positions on the commission.

It is understood that Chairman Walter Greer will file for reelection before the official deadline at 5 o'clock tonight.

Alsop, Lutz and Whitlock bring the total number of freeholders qualifying for election to seven.

The town clerk also announced that the registration books will be officially closed September 2, at 5 o'clock. The city election will be held September 12 and will decide on three commissioner's posts.

Another post created by resignation, and the mayor's position. A fourth post, created by the death of the town charter will also be voted on.

Camp Construction Gets Under Way

Construction of the Farm Security Administration's white migratory labor camp got under way Tuesday morning when four carpenters began building tool sheds and work offices on the camp site northwest of the Belle Glade ice plant.

According to contract specifications, 225 working days are allowed to construct the labor shelter and other camp facilities by Chalker and Lund, West Palm Beach.

The U. S. Army Co. of Montezuma, Ariz., has started work on their contract including the manager's homes and 42 duplex units for carpenters, masons, bricklayers, tile setters, etc. which will commence this week.

Chalker and Lund, it is reported, are hiring only union labor. Twenty-five additional union workers were added to the original nine men comprising the local crew.

Twenty-five additional union workers, bricklayers, tile setters, etc. will be required to have union cards.

returned to their home in Pahokee Tuesday after spending the past several weeks on vacation in California and other western states. Mr. Knight attended the Pahokee Rotary club for the first time in several weeks yesterday and reported that he had made up his attendance each week while away.

Cochran To Stand Trial For Murder

Tom Cochran, husky 29-year-old radio script writer, stood out before Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth, Wednesday morning, while Jack W. Salisbury, appointed by the court to defend him, entered pleas of not guilty to three indictments for murder in the first degree, kidnapping and rape, returned by a Palm Beach county grand jury Tuesday.

Trial Date Set

Judge Chillingworth immediately fixed Monday, Sept. 25, at 9:30 o'clock, as the date for Cochran to go to trial on the murder charge. He laid a special session of circuit court will be called that day and a petit jury venire will be summoned a week or 10 days beforehand.

A possibility that no trial will be necessary was seen in a statement by Mr. Salisbury to the court that "we may want to withdraw these pleas after I get in touch with someone the defendant has asked me to communicate with."

The defense attorney said this might be tomorrow or it might not be for a week.

Later Mr. Salisbury said he might decide to have an alienist examine his client.

If Cochran should withdraw his not guilty plea and plead guilty to the indictment charging him with the murder of Frances Ruth Dunn, 17-year-old Miami school girl, in a secluded spot near Boca Station, Fla., he could be sentenced to the electric chair without trial.

State Attorney Phil O'Connell informed the court that he desired no dates set for Cochran's trial for the other two indictments. One charges him with kidnapping Frances Ruth Dunn and Jean Boulton, and the other charges criminal assault on Frances Dunn. — Palm Beach Post.

Enjoying picnic lunch at N. Y. World's Fair

NEW YORK (Special)—Picnickers are made to feel that they are in Florida, as they are in a happy group enjoying the shade beneath brilliantly striped umbrellas which picture the picnic areas at the Fair grounds. They find luncheon at fresco a pleasant interlude of rest during their tour of the hundreds of fascinating exhibits. And they find that the best things at the Fair are free. During the first month of the exposition the average per capita expenditure within the fair was $1.17 and this included restaurant meals for most of the visitors.

FLORIDA BOY MAKES GOOD ON BROADWAY

The Florida Exhibit attracts many distinguished visitors; the last group was headed by Buddy Ebsen, star of the Broadway show "Yokel Boy." Buddy brought his entire company and they had a swell time. He is a Florida boy, born in Orlando and a graduate of the University of Florida at Gainesville. Mrs. Ebsen hails from Jacksonville.

When the exhibit was profound and he spoke to his company and the large assembled crowd of the great state he professed, remarked that he has never forgotten his boyhood in Orlando and his school days at the University. He then gave an extemporaneous Florida talk to the crowd saying that Florida is the best place in the world, even better than any part of California, and as he says, "That's saying something."

One visitor spoke up and said, "Why don't you say something about the rest of Florida," and Buddy said, "What can I say except to tell you folks to go on down to Florida, see the whole state and you'll like it better than any other part of the country, and when you come north tell every one the state is just what I say it is, the best in the Union."

And applause! Buddy made a circuit of the entire exhibit, and was much interested in the exhibit of the University of Florida, and the diorama of the Florida State College for Women at Tallahassee both exhibits being part of the General Tung Oil exhibit. He was in the program of the progress of the growing of Tung Trees in the state, saying that he had seen the Chas Grove plantation. As the crowd pressed around him for autographs, Buddy signed them and in most instances added a short phrase, "Go to Florida."

Pahokee Doctor Under Bond On Bigamy Charge

On Wednesday of this week County Solicitor W. E. Roebuck issued a capias for the arrest of Dr. H. M. Elarbee, Pahokee, on a charge of bigamy. The information charges the defendant, with unlawfully marrying Ernestine Hindman on July 29, 1938, while he had a living wife, Alice L. Elarbee. The defendant made a $2,000 bond in the office of Sheriff W. H. Lawrence Wednesday afternoon and was released. The bond is returnable every 60 days. County records show that the defendant filed suit for divorce from Alice L. Elarbee on July 26, 1938 in circuit court.

WOODMEN LODGE

The Woodmen chapter of the Woodmen of the World, made their first night and third Thursday night in the Woodmen building in Canal Point. Meeting hour is 8 p. m. All Woodmen are urged to attend.

From ore deposits in Germany are estimated to be capable of providing only 60 per cent of the country's requirements, and this only by mining every 60 days. Economy in mining and smelting.

Room Bureaus Set Up For New York Fair

NEW YORK (Special)—Two agencies have been set up in New York City to insure World's Fair visitors' getting living accommodations at a most reasonable price.

One is the Mayor's Official World's Fair Housing Bureau, Inc., with headquarters in the Chalmers Building, 122 East 43d Street, set up by Mayor La Guardia to locate rooms for visitors in private homes and dwellings.

The other is the Hotel Room Information Bureau of the Hotel Association of New York City, representing 180 hotels with a total capacity of 80,000 rooms. The bureau is at association headquarters, 221 West 57th Street.

Both agencies function without any charge to the visitor in finding him clean and comfortable accommodations at a price within his means. Rooms in private dwellings range in price from $1 per night per person up, with the average per person $1.50.

Every Western Union and Postal Telegraph office is equipped to handle requests for rooms in conjunction with the Housing Bureau or a telephone. Every policeman in New York City is familiar with the plan and equipped to give visitors first hand information on methods of obtaining registered and sponsored rooms.

On making the application for a room the visitor pays a deposit of 50 cents per night per person for which he receives a receipt. The receipt may be presented to the landlord in lieu of cash as part payment for the room.

Conservation Head Visits I. W. Weeks

J. L. Billings, of Miami, chief conservation officer in the fourth congressional district for the Gage and Fresh Water Fish commission, spent Monday in Pahokee conferring with I. W. Weeks, newly appointed commissioner. Messrs. Billings and Weeks spent several hours together discussing conservation work in this district.

A program "unbiased and unprejudiced" was the outcome of the meeting according to a statement made by Mr. Weeks to a representative of this newspaper.

It is the hope of Commissioner Weeks that the program as planned for this district will have far reaching effects in that conservation-minded citizens will take an active part in the work.
